USF Health Clinical Studies

ADNI Study: For those 55-90 years of age and are in good general health, cognitively normal, have mild cognitive impairment or have been diagnosed with mild dementia due to Alzheimer's. Must be willing to undergo in-clinic assessments, memory testing, and other test procedures. This is a free study. No experimental medication will be involved. You will receive compensation for this study. Call 1-888-223-6495

Byrd Clinic Memory Research Mobile Unit

FREE confidential memory screenings for those 60+ by appointment only on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Call (813) 396-0611 for an appointment. The Byrd Clinic is a subsidiary of USF Health. DATES: August 11 – 24 | September 8 – 21

T2 Protect AD: National multi-site clinical trial testing an investigational drug for people, age 50-85, with mild to moderate Alzheimer's disease (AD). The trial is designed to determine if the study drug can protect against, or slow down, memory and thinking problems that increase as Alzheimer's disease progresses. Study will last 48 weeks. You will receive compensation for this study. Contact Melissa Andrade (813) 396-0611 with questions.

PACT study: Two year study to see if computerized training exercises reduce risk of ALZ. Cannot have any neuro disorders, have not had stroke or brain injury and no diagnosis of dementia. Polk contact #: 863-800-0835
